"Jackson mixes poetic, intelligent lyrics with a voice that at one moment sounds as if it could knock you on your back and the next as if it could be shattered by so much as a breath." -Performing Songwriter

"(Outskirts is) The best album of 2007." Lucid Culture

"JJ's soothing voice is never saying listen to me. It is always saying listen to the music." - Frank Goodman/Pure Music

"Jenifer Jackson is an artist possessed of complexity and grace." - Clay Steakley/Nashville Rage

"I can't believe how great she is. I'm hard to impress when it comes to singer songwriters. She belongs with some of the best I've ever heard." John Swenson/UPI

"So High sports Air-like synths, groovy harpsichords, Beatlesque guitars and bass lines, and even a get-down groove worthy of Barry White... a gleaming showcase for the New Yorker's splendid songwriting and singing." -Time Out NY

"Jackson's lyrics are simple, heartfelt and revealing; matched with the soaring silk of her voice... they'll send you into a veritable swoon." -Splendid

"Like similarly inclined players Swan Dive, The Pernice Brothers, and Josh Rouse, Jackson is a songwriter first, a sweetener second. On her second album So High, Jackson lays down 11 sketches of urban romance that alternate joyous delirium with desperate loneliness." -The Onion

"Genius unbound. Huge overseas, and for good reason. She's lime sherbet on a hot Wednesday night. She's a new pair of sneakers just out of the box, with orthotic supports and fat laces. If this Jenifer Jackson designed wallpaper, I'd move to a bigger place just to cover it with her papery musings. Think of the best thing in the world." Gravy Journal

"With airy, skyward vocals and an overflowing toolbox of grooves and beats, this woman is injecting herself into the sisterhood of Norah Jones, Cowboy Junkies, Elliot Smith and Nick Drake adoptees. Totally charming." - CD Baby

"Genuine, experienced, and versatile, Jenifer Jackson is a singer/songwriter whose music seeks out the most fundamental human experiences: love, melancholy, redemption, and joy. With a collage of genres deftly arranged and reinvented through her unique vision, she erases borders and speaks to a broad audience of music lovers." - Women Rock

"She may flit through an assortment of easy on the ear sophisticated musical genres, but what remains consistent is the fluidity of her vocals, forming themselves to whatever shapes the music demands and the urban romance concerns of her lyrics, whether she's talking about the power of love to provide meaning, the thrill of that first encounter or the melancholy of hearts healing." - Mike Davies - Net Rhythms UK

"There's a particularly soft, almost naive sense of beauty to Jenifer Jackson's songs that belies the sophistication of their craftsmanship and presentation." - CMJ Magazine

"Perfect pop tunes made heavenly by an airy, ethereal, Astrud Gilberto meets Burt Bacharach quality. 'Slowly Bright' sets you to sway dreamily of past loves, or loves to be. The ideal soundtrack to your next swoon." - WFMU
